

Disaster Relief Fraud Awareness Guide

Common Types of Fraud During Disasters
Charitable Solicitation Scams	Contractor and Repair Fraud	Identity Theft and Benefits Fraud
<ul> <li>Fraudulent organizations claiming to collect donations for disaster victims</li> <li>Use of names similar to legitimate charities</li> <li>High-pressure tactics demanding immediate donations</li> <li>Only accepting cash or wire transfer donations</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>Unlicensed contractors offering immediate repairs</li> <li>Demands for large upfront payments</li> <li>Door-to-door solicitations with "special deals"</li> <li>Pressure to sign contracts immediately</li> <li>Claims of FEMA endorsement or certification</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>Fake officials requesting personal information</li> <li>Impersonation of government agencies (FEMA, SBA, etc.)</li> <li>Fraudulent benefit applications using stolen identities</li> <li>Phishing emails claiming to be from relief organizations</li> </ul>
Red Flags to Watch For
For Charitable Donations	For Contractors and Repairs	For Government Assistance
<ul> <li>No clear description of how donations will be used</li> <li>Unable to provide proof of tax-deductible status</li> <li>No physical address or verifiable contact information</li> <li>Requests for donations via cash, gift cards, or wire transfers</li> <li>Unsolicited donation requests via email or social media</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>No physical business address or local presence</li> <li>Unable to provide references or proof of insurance</li> <li>Reluctance to provide written estimates</li> <li>Pressure to make an immediate decision</li> <li>Significantly lower prices than other contractors</li> <li>No building permits or professional licenses</li> </ul>	<ul> <li>Requests for payment to file assistance claims</li> <li>Unsolicited calls requesting personal information</li> <li>Claims of guaranteed assistance or expedited processing</li> <li>Officials refusing to show proper identification</li> </ul>

PROTECTIVE MEASURES

Before Donating

- 1. Research charity's track record in disaster relief
- 2. Keep detailed records of all donations
- 3. Use secure payment methods (credit cards or checks)

Before Hiring Contractors

- 1. Verify licenses and insurance
- 2. Get multiple written estimates
- 3. Check references and previous work
- 4. Never pay full amount upfront
- 5. Document all agreements in writing
- 6. Take photos before and after work

Protecting Personal Information

- 1. Never give personal information to unsolicited callers
- 2. Verify identities of relief workers
- 3. Use official government websites (ending in .gov)
- 4. Keep copies of all submitted documentation
- 5. Monitor credit reports regularly

REPORTING FRAUD & RECOVERY TIPS

Where to Report

- FEMA Disaster Fraud Hotline: 866-720-5721
- FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3): www.ic3.gov
- National Center for Disaster Fraud: 866-720-5721
- Local law enforcement

Documentation

- Keep detailed records of all transactions
- Take photos of damage before repairs
- Save all receipts and contracts
- Document conversations with officials
- Maintain copies of all submitted forms

Financial Protection

- Use secure payment methods
- Never send cash
- Keep track of expenses
- Monitor accounts regularly
- Save all disaster-related communications